About The Masseuse

Alyssa Harpster originally hails from the great state of Texas. She was stationed here in Virginia while serving in the United States Navy and decided to make this her home. Alyssa graduated with honors from the Virginia School of Technology (now Fortis College) as a Massage Therapist in 2006. Having worked as a Massage Therapist in a variety of settings (including spas and rehabilitation), she now focuses on private massage. Alyssa currently attends Thomas Nelson Community College and will begin Nursing School in Spring 2011.
